Traditional yet artificial and inhibiting musical categories are steadily becoming obsolete.
More and more new music finds no neat slot in conventional record bins or on radio station play lists.

Garialan Blugraye's second album release of "Duns Scotus/New Age Symphony No.1 for Guitar" may well create the missing slot we have all been searching for in the New Age/Classical category. It's been said of this composition "What is this music? Is it Classical? New Age? While musicologists may not have the answer you will when your hear it!"
